

Lisbeth Fog has been a freelance science journalist for several national and international media. Currently Lisbeth writes a monthly opinion column at the newspaper El Espectador and is a professor at the master's program in Science Journalism at the Pontificia Universidad Javeriana. She promoted the resurgence of the Colombian Association of Science Journalism, ACPC, in 1996 and led it for six years. As President of the ACPC, she was one of the founders of the World Federation of Science Journalists.

Diran Onifade is Editor-in-Chief AfricaSTI (www.africasti.net) based in Abuja, Nigeria. He is a Knight Science Journalism Fellow of MIT and is former President of the African Federation of Science Journalists. Diran is also a former Vice President of the World Federation of Science Journalists.

Pallab Ghosh is one of the BBC's Science Correspondents contributing to its social, online, TV and radio news platforms. He is a former Chair and Honorary President of the Association of British Science Writers. He is also a former board member and President of the World Federation of Science Journalists.